CHAPTER XXXVIII.

THE large drawing room was brightly lighted. Another weary day had dragged to its close. It was the Tuesday evening, the last Tuesday in March.

The church had not been near the castle all day. Steinmetz and Paul had never lost sight of the ladies since breakfast time. They had not ventured out of doors. There was in the atmosphere a sense of foreboding—the stillness of a crisis. Etta had been defiant and almost dangerous humor all day. Maggie had watched Paul's face with steadfast, quiet eyes full of courage, but she knew now that there was danger.

The conversation at breakfast and luncheon had been maintained by Steinmetz—always collected and a little humorous. It was now dinner time. The whole castle was brilliantly lighted, as if for a great assembly of guests.

Maggie was in the drawing room alone. She was leaning one hand and arm on the mantelpiece, looking thoughtfully into the fire. The rustic of silk made her turn her head. It was

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sumnerland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pausing in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better, then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Etta met his glance for a moment, shrugged her shoulders and turned her back on him. Paul was standing in the open doorway with his back turned toward them—alone. The palace had never looked so vast as it did at that moment—brilliantly lighted, gorgeous, empty.

Through the hail of blows on the stout doors, the rattle of stones at the windows, the prince could hear yells of exhortation and the wild laughter that is bred of destruction. He turned and entered the room. His face was gray and terrible.

"They have no chance," he said, "of effecting an entrance by force. The lower windows are barred. They have no ladders. Steinmetz and I have seen to that. We have been expecting this for some days."

He turned toward Steinmetz as if seeking confirmation. The din was increasing. When the German spoke he had to shout.

"We can beat them back if we like. We can shoot them down from the windows. But"—he paused, shrugged his shoulders and laughed—"what will you! This prince will not shoot his father's serfs."

"We must leave you," went on Paul. "We must beware of treachery. Whatever happens, we shall not leave the house. If the worst comes, we make our last stand in this room. Whatever happens, stay here till we come."

He left the room, followed by Steinmetz. There were only three doors in the impregnable stone walls—the great entrance, a side door for use in times of deep snow and the small concealed entrance by which the starosta was in the habit of reaching his masters.

For a moment the two men stood at the head of the stairs listening to the wild commotion. They were turning to descend the state stairs when a piercing shriek, immediately drowned by a yell of triumph, broke the silence of the interior of the castle. There was a momentary stillness, followed by another shriek.

"They are in!" said Steinmetz. "The side door!"

And the two men looked at each other with wide eyes full of knowledge. As they ran to the foot of the broad staircase the tramp of scuffling feet, the roar of angry voices, came through the passages from the back of curtained doorways. The servants' quarters seemed to be pandemonium. The sounds approached.

"Halfway up!" said Paul, and they ran halfway up the broad staircase side by side. There they stood and waited.

In a moment the baize doors were burst open, and a scuffling mass of men and women poured into the hall, a very sewer of humanity.

A yell of exhortation signaled their recognition of the prince.

"They are mad!" said Steinmetz as the crowd surged forward toward the stairs with waving arms and the dull gleam of steel, with wild faces turned upward, wild mouths bellowing hatred and murder.

"It is a chance—it may stop them," said Steinmetz.

His arm was outstretched steadily. A loud report, a little puff of smoke shooting upward to the gilded ceiling—and for one brief moment the crowd stood still, watching one of their leaders, who was turning and twisting on his side half a dozen steps from the bottom.

Then Paul raised his voice.

"Listen to me!" he said.

But he got no further, for some one shot at him from the background, over the frantic heads of the others, and missed him. The bullet lodged in the wall at the head of the stairs in the jamb of the gorgeous doorway. It is there today.

IN FULL FLIGHT

It Is Now a Race For Life
With Gen. Kuropatkin's
Great Army.

THE ODDS AGAINST HIM

Military Experts Figure That Oyama Has a Chance to Cut off the Retreat to the North.

Possibility of Peace, Based Upon This Latest Japanese Victory Being Discussed.

The fate of the Russian army of a quarter of a million men and the 2,000 pieces of artillery with which it was expected confidently General Kuropatkin and his lieutenants could prevent the advance of the Japanese beyond the Shakhe and the Hun river positions, is still in the balance. The Russians have been driven from their positions and are now rushing northwest toward Tie pass, around which are high hills which were prepared for defense after the battle of Liao Yang in September.

That the Russians have lost many guns and large quantities of ammunition and supplies is certain. Immense stores, it seems certain, have been destroyed. The Japanese have not yet reported the capture of guns, but it seems hardly likely that Kuropatkin could have removed all of his artillery.

The result of Oyama's great turning movement is said to depend on General Kamamura's army, which is supposed to be moving from the east toward Kuropatkin's line of retreat. Should he reach the military road, which runs almost in a direct line from Fushun to Tie pass, before the passage of the Russian army, the circle will be complete, as Nogai's guns already command the railway and should soon control the Mandarin road, which is a short distance east of the railway and runs parallel with it. The army of General Kaulbars, which has been pressed back across the Western plain, fighting every inch of ground, is moving northwest to protect the line of retreat from the westward attacks, while General Bilderling is protecting the rear against Generals Oku and Nodzu, and Linevitch is doing his best to hold the military road against Kuropatkin. They have numbers against them, but have succeeded against odds in similar retreats before. The appearance of Kamamura might render futile their efforts. General Rennenkampf's force of somewhat fewer than 100,000 men on the extreme east is in a precarious position, but the force is a mobile one, and the officers know the mountains well. With the exception of Rennenkampf's, all the Russian troops are now concentrated on the roads leading northwest, and it may take another twenty-four hours to decide their fate.

Even should Kuropatkin extricate his army, it is believed in some European capitals that peace will soon follow this latest Japanese victory. The calling to St. Petersburg of Mr. Iswolsky, Russian minister to Denmark, who formerly was in Tokio, is regarded as significant.

The losses in the operations preceding the battle and those in the battle proper must have reached enormous proportions, but up to the present neither side has attempted an estimate. They will exceed the Shakhe losses, in which the Russians alone lost in killed, wounded and missing 67,000 men.

THE LITERATURE OF WAR

Is Added to by Gen. Kuropatkin's Lamentable Message.

St. Petersburg, March 6.—"Last night all our armies commenced to retreat."

The greatest defeat in the history of the far eastern war was made known in St. Petersburg last night, but only in the foregoing eight words from General Kuropatkin to Emperor Nicholas. This brief message was flung about the streets in newspaper extras, and it was passed from mouth to mouth. Two thoughts formed instantly in the minds of every one, and two words were on every lip: Surrender; peace—the former dreaded, the latter hoped for.

Gen. Kuropatkin is no maker of phrases; his words never are quoted like the famous "All is lost save honor," but his laconic message hides more than probably any other sentence in the literature of war. St. Petersburg knows nothing of the extent of the disaster, not even the lines of Kuropatkin's retreat; whether the route to Tie Pass is still open, whether he is endeavoring to cut his way through to safety, or whether, as many pessimists believe, he has taken to the mountains, he will inevitably be hemmed in and starved into surrender.

The dispatch from Kuropatkin has been studied, and from the words "All our armies" optimists draw the conclusion that the bulk of the Russian forces got away clear, the commander-in-chief sacrificing, however, the devoted rear guard, which flung itself as a prey to the Japanese who were closing in on their trail and sacrificing on each hand the greater part of his heavy artillery, especially the siege guns and enormous quantities of supplies.

Of the present situation of the army, of the proportion of Russians left in Japanese hands, or of the prospect of the escape or the remainder, St. Petersburg at this moment knows less than the smallest hamlet in America. Since a Mukden press dispatch filed at 5 o'clock Friday morning no dispatch save the brief official announcement of the retreat has come from the Russian army. General Kuropatkin's preceding dispatch giving the last details as to the positions of the army having been written at 9 o'clock Thursday evening. Everyone now is discussing peace, which many of the staunchest advocates of the war, bureaucrats and officers now declare to be inevitable. It openly is bruited that Rojestvensky's fleet has been recalled and is now on the way homeward. The admiralty declined to comment on the significance of the cancellation of the purchase of colliers, or the direction of Rojestvensky's voyage from Madagascar waters. It can be said, however, that no ventures for peace have yet been made and none is likely to be made for a few days, until the extent of the disaster has developed.

Aside from peace, defeat may bring other consequences in its train. That an enormous impetus has been given to the reform movement is plain even to the most reactionary conservatives; but the immediate result chiefly dreaded is the effect on internal disorders, not only in the capital, but also, since St. Petersburg is not Russia, on the millions of peasants in the vast agricultural regions, among whom the spirit of revolt is now incubating and already has hatched pillage and arson in a few districts.

Cuba's Ideas of Legislation.

Havana, March 11.—The winter session of congress has ended. There has been no quorum of the senate for a week and no quorum of the house for two days. President Palma's requests for the enactment of certain of the more urgent measures was not complied with and nothing special was enacted during the session except the appropriation for sanitation of the larger cities and the authorization of purchase of the National theater.

Lawyer Takes Big Oath.

New York, March 11.—The United States Steel corporation, with a capitalization of $1,100,000,000, was assessed for $10,000,000 personal property by the local tax officials this year. This $10,000,000 was in excess of its real estate and debts. The company made its formal answer, or return, on the assessment and its attorney has sworn off all save two millions of the assessment.

A Plea for the Simple Life.

Columbus, Ohio, March 11.—James W. Fleming, for twenty years, assistant secretary of the Ohio state board of agriculture and a director of the National Trotting association, committed suicide at his home in this city last night by shooting himself in the head. He had been in ill health and on the verge of nervous collapse, the result of overwork, it is said by his friends.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

By a great lantern parade Tokio last night celebrated the fall of Mukden.

The strike on the New York subway and elevated railway lines has fallen through.

By an explosion in the Cambrian colliery at Clydach Vale, Wales, fifty miners were killed.

Business failures for the week number 190 against 206 last week and 200 a year ago.

Vice President Fairbanks has appointed as his private secretary his son, Fred C. Fairbanks.

Whitelaw Reid has retired from the editorship and direction of the New York Tribune in consequence of his having taken office abroad.

The triennial convention of the National Congress of Mothers, which is to continue with daily sessions for a week, began last night at Washington.

The ratification of the Santo Domingo treaty will be impossible if the Democrats in the senate refuse to support it, and the indications are that they are likely to stand together in opposition.

BIG LAND SCANDALS

Secretary of the Interior Gives a Statement of the Oregon Situation.

A SEARCHING INQUIRY

Sixty-Eight Indictments Have Been Returned Based Upon Irregularities in Land Deals.

A United States Senator, Two Congressmen and a Score of Lesser Officials Incriminated.

Washington, March 11.—Secretary Hitchcock has given out a statement concerning the investigation made by the department of the interior into the irregularities in Oregon in connection with the public lands. It shows that there have been sixty-eight indictments and six convictions. Of the indictments fifty-two are for conspiracy to defraud the government and the others for the various crimes of perjury, subornation of perjury, obstructing the administration of justice, etc. The persons indicted include one United States senator—J. H. Mitchell; two congressmen, Binger Hermann and John N. Williamson; eight attorneys, one state and two ex-state senators; an ex-assistant United States attorney and his deputy; an ex-surveyor general and deputy and several deputy surveyors; ex-examiners of surveys; ex-special agents; one United States commissioner and two ex-commissioners and a number of land and timber dealers and homesteaders. The names of two women appear in his list, one of them being Emma L. Watson, convicted of conspiracy, and the other, Nellie Brown, indicted for the same offense.

NEARING THE CLOSE

Chadwick Case Is About Ready for the Jury.

Cleveland, O., March 11.—Today will see the close of the present trial of Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick. The case will be given to the jury late this afternoon. The oratorical siege guns opened this morning. District Attorney Sullivan will close for the government.

It was a trying day for Mrs. Chadwick, and her pale face and nervous manner showed that the strain of the trial is telling on her. The attack made on her financial methods disturbed her greatly. When the assistant attorney showed the jury by her own checks that without having any money in the bank she had secured loans amounting to $187,000, and $104,000 of it one day, when the total amount which the bank could legally lend to one person was only $6,000, the prisoner sank back in her chair with a discouraged look.

She was greatly discouraged at the time of the midday adjournment, and said: "I have about given up all hope. I have not any chance in this court."

When her own attorneys were making arguments, she brightened up very much. Her troubles will not be over, however, even if acquitted in the present case. District Attorney Sullivan said that he would probably bring about a second trial on another indictment immediately following her acquittal in the present case.

Didn't Have to Testify.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 11.—Andrew Carnegie has left for New York. He came to Cleveland last Saturday evening, having been subpoenaed as a witness in the trial of Mrs. Chadwick, but was not called on to testify.

THE STATE OF TRADE

Things Looking Up in All Directions, Says Bradstreet.

New York, March 11.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: The merchandise movement in practically all sections save a portion of the South, has expanded considerably; the railways have begun to win out of their car congestion troubles and are handling a very large traffic; preparations for an active building season are reflected in the market for material and the iron and steel and allied industries report keen demand, unprecedented consumption for this season, the only complaint being that deliveries of crude and finished products are not up to consumers' needs. Retail trade shows little expansion as yet and the late Easter season favors some continued quietness, but no complaint comes from this source except in the metropolis, where the transportation strike affects sales.

TO ABOLISH GOVERNMENT

That Is the Cure to the World's Evils, as Tolstois Sees It.

London, March 11.—Count Tolstois, in a letter to the Times of London which was published this morning, says that he regards not only the Russian government, but all governments, as "intricate institutions sanctified by tradition and custom for the purpose of committing by violence and with impunity the most dreadful social crimes." He therefore thinks the efforts of those who wish to improve social life should be directed to the liberation of themselves from the governments whose utility in these times is becoming more and more obvious. This object could only be attained by the unique means of religiously and morally perfecting separate individuals. The idea is prevalent that the evil accomplished by the "present-day coarse, cruel, stupid and deceitful Russian government" is due to the fact that the Russian government is not organized on the model of other existing governments, which "are similar institutions for the commission of all kinds of crimes against their people." For the purpose of correcting this the people had used all the means at their disposal, "imagining that an alteration of the external forms might alter the essence." Such activity, Count Tolstois says, is inexpedient and unreasonable in that the people assert rights which they do not have.

In conclusion Count Tolstois says that in America, France, Germany, Japan and England, the pernicious character of the governments is so marked that those belonging to those nations point to events in Russian and naively imagine what is done in Russia is done only in Russia, while they enjoy complete freedom and need no improvement of their positions.

"But," he adds, "they are in the most hopeless state of slavery—the slavery of slaves who do not understand that they are slaves and pride themselves on their position as slaves. The fact is that every coercive government is in the essence a great and unnecessary evil. Therefore the aim both of the Russians and of all men should not be to replace one form of government by another, but to free themselves from every government and abolish it."

The Potent St. Patrick.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 11.—To avoid an execution on St. Patrick's day, when William Rudolph, murderer of Detective Charles Schumacher, was to be hanged, Governor Folk has granted a respite of thirty days. The petition for the respite was signed by large numbers of Irish Catholics.

MR. AND MRS. J. E. Peterson, Expert Opticians, Dayton, O.

Will be at the Lynn Hotel, Seymour, Indiana, from March 13 to March 18, inclusive, for one week, giving free examination of the eyes.

All persons who suffer with headache may rest assured that defective eyesight is the cause of about four cases out of five. Hypermetropia or farsight is the principal cause of constant headaches. A hypermetropic eye is insufficient either in its length or in the power of its refracting media, which causes the focus to be thrown toward a point behind the retina, resulting in a constant strain upon the ciliary or accommodation muscles and nerves, worrying them and in turn affecting what is known as the third nerve or motor oculi, and through sympathy causing extreme disorder in the whole nervous system.

By the use of the lenses properly ground and fitted, the eye is made artificially perfect, and the image is thrown upon the retina without strain upon the ciliary muscles, just as in the perfect eye. This removes the cause and at once overcomes the headaches, dizziness, excessive watering of the eye, trembling spells and itching of the lids.

Another common defect is astigmatism, in which the eye is not equally curved in all meridians so that the focus is not perfect on the retina.

Headache caused by astigmatism usually begins with shooting pains in the back of the eyes, which finally reach the top and back of the head, extend down the back of the neck to the shoulders and frequently affect the spine so that physicians diagnose the case as spinal trouble.

Other symptoms of astigmatism are, a sensation as if hair pulling, soreness of the scalp, and dizziness, especially upon turning the head.

Those who suffer from a slight degree of astigmatism experience much trouble in reading or doing close work more than thirty minutes without the vision blurring, letters or lines of type running together, and becoming more or less mixed, causing excessive watering of the eyes with perhaps a slightly inflamed condition of the lids, and a bloodshot eyeball.

All these troubles can be entirely removed by wearing a proper correction of lenses, and without the use of drugs or surgery.

The Well Known Contractor, Mr. Marsh McCormack, of Greensburg, Ind., says:

"I have been a continual sufferer from headache for years and obtained no relief from doctoring."

I consulted Dr. Peterson who, after a careful and painstaking examination of my eyes, described every ache, pain or misery I had experienced in my head, and just where located, without a single word from me.

This fact I appreciated very much, consequently thought him competent to handle my case and thereby ordered glasses which I have worn to my entire satisfaction as I have not had a headache or pain in my head but once since using the glasses, and that was due to cold.

In view of these remarkable results I most willingly recommend Dr. and Mrs. Peterson to all headache sufferers.

Miss Edythe Hoff, of Newpoint, writes:

MR. AND MRS. J. E. PETERSON,

GREENSBURG, IND.

DEAR FRIENDS:

I feel that I can not too heartily endorse your skill and ability as opticians. My work as a school teacher is naturally very close and confining. The examination of my pupils' work under constantly varying circumstances of light and angle produced a daily headache and my occupation which should have been a pleasure to me was indeed a task.

Upon the recommendation of friends I consulted you and I must say that the benefit to me has been phenomenal. Now the world looks entirely different to me. My work in the school room is again the pleasure it was before this awful strain was put upon my eyes. My headaches are now entirely gone and I know the lenses you furnished me are what brought about this changed condition.

Mrs. Philip Heinrich, of Osgood, Ind., says:

For the last four or five years I have never gone without a headache for two weeks, often three or four days every week, more severe sometimes than others, but always a dull pain at the back of my neck extending toward my ears, and down my spine, sometimes so severe that I was just paralyzed with the pain. My suffering was intense, and I thought it was from a fall and that my spine was affected. As my glasses were no longer suited to me I consulted Mr. Peterson, who told me that in addition to giving me perfect vision he could cure my headaches.

I doubted this statement but I have worn the glasses he prescribed for me for four weeks and during that time have been threatened with the headache but one morning, and it all passed off before noon. I see perfectly well and am free from my old headache troubles. Money simply could not buy my glasses if I could not secure others like them. Anyone who can fit glasses as Mr. Peterson did for me is certainly an expert and able to give perfect satisfaction to all who have defective eyesight.

Mr. Omer Edens, living two miles south of Holton says:

"My eyes were so weak that I could read for only a few minutes at a time. I would close my eyes tight and when I opened them I could see good for just a few moments, then everything became blurred. The whites of my eyes were very red and inflamed and the lids were also red and swollen. I had Mr. Peterson examine my eyes. He told me I had astigmatism and fitted me with lenses that have greatly reduced the inflammation and made my vision so much stronger that I cheerfully recommend Mr. Peterson as entirely competent and honorable."

Mrs. Leroy Decker, of Osgood, Ind., says:

"My eyes had been so weak for almost a year that I could read but very little after night and the last two or three months I had to give up reading after night altogether as my eyes would hurt so badly. I also had a dull headache almost constantly."

Mr. Peterson examined my eyes and fitted me with glasses and I have only had one slight headache and I find I can read at night without any evil effects and without tiring my eyes. I can confidently recommend Mr. Peterson to all who suffer as I did."

Mrs. K. Dopp Says:

My eyes had been failing me and I was suffering terribly from nervousness and headaches. My physician told me he thought it was my eyes, and I thought I would have to go to the city to have my lenses changed. When I read the advertisement of Mr. Peterson I decided to try him, and I can say that though I have had the best opticians in the city examine my eyes I never had as perfect satisfaction as with the lenses Mr. Peterson prescribed. With my old glasses there were dark spots floating all the time before my eyes, and everything quivered and it strained my eyes to read. Now I read with ease, every thing is steady and clear, my eyes are rested and strong. I cheerfully recommend Mr. Peterson to all who suffer from defective eyesight, as I believe he is entirely competent and reliable."

He is 75 years of age and she is 74 and both enjoy good health for people of their ages. Their early married life was spent in Miami county, Ohio. In 1865 they moved to St. Paul, Indiana, where he conducted a grocery store and where he was postmaster ten years. In 1885 they moved to Seymour and since coming here he has conducted an ice-cream parlor in season, doing both a wholesale and retail business. He also deals in oysters. Miss Flenniken Entertains.

Miss Nora Flenniken was hostess last night to twenty of her gentlemen and lady friends at her home on East Third street. The evening was most pleasantly spent at cards, whilst being the feature. It was a most enjoyable occasion to all present. Price Matlock won the gentlemen's prize and Miss Sudie Mills was fortunate enough to carry off the ladies prize. Delightful refreshments of ice-cream and cake and punch were served. The favors were pink carnations.

Not Dead.

A few weeks ago it was currently reported that Prof. J. Beery, the horse tamer, had been killed at New Orleans by a vicious horse. There was no foundation for such a report as Prof. J. Beery is very much alive. He did not even meet with an accident and is still taming horses.

LIBRARY TALK.

Our New City Library Grows Rapidly in Popularity.

From the librarian's report for the month ending March 6, it is evident that the interest in the new library is as great as when it was first opened. The people of the city, young and old, are using the books and reading rooms to best advantage, showing our tax-payers that they have perpetrated a beneficial act in building this institution.

The number of books issued in February, the second month of the life of the new library was 1,750. Fewer lines were received this month than last and the number of patrons increased from 495 to 610, evidencing the growing popularity of the institution and its wider field of usefulness. The average number of patrons using reading rooms per day was 20.

Just recently the fifteen volumes of Lord's "Beacon Lights of History," an excellent set of books, have been received, forming a most valuable addition to the historical department. Many other new books have been put on the shelves since the first of the year. The library is now very well equipped and the use of the books and reading rooms being free to all, should be well patronized and utilized.

Pleasant Evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Kaufman delightfully entertained the employees of the Gold Mine last evening at six o'clock dinner at their home on east Second street. The dinner was most elaborate and thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated. The evening was most pleasantly spent, during which time Mr. Kaufman and Mr. N. Speler made excellent speeches, to which Mr. Frank Schmidt responded in his usual good way. Altogether it was an occasion of rare pleasure and one to be pleasantly remembered.

Will Celebrate Day.

In commemoration of the fortieth anniversary of General Lee's surrender Sunday, April 9, has been set aside as Appomattox day by the State G. A. R. All of the different posts over the state will hold church services on that day and an address, prepared by Daniel R. Lucas, department commander of the Indiana G. A. R., will be read as part of the ceremony.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.

PROF. L. J. MILLER.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 327 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly to learn its contents.

"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health.

"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J. MILLER.

"Builds up the System."

Hon. Joseph H. Ridgeway, Secretary of the American Anti-Treat Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all it claims, I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system.

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgeway.

Joseph Ridgeway.

"Feel Better Than for Five Years."

Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes:

"I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy my Meals as I Used to."

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna.

"It has been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

Trials of Motherhood

300 Broad Street,
Philadelphia, Pa., June 12, 1905.

I suffered for nine years with ovarian troubles making life a burden to myself as well as to my family. During that time I had two miscarriages and although we longed for a child to bless our home this seemed impossible. I had constant racking bearing-down pains in the pelvic organs and a swelling through my limbs with frequent headaches. I felt sick at my stomach and vomited frequently and no medicine helped me until I tried Wine of Cardui.

Then my general health improved, the pains gradually lessened and after six weeks I was well. I am now the happy mother of a boy eighteen months old and my husband joins me in sending heartfelt thanks to you for your splendid medicine. Without it, I would have been a childless, instead of a happy and well mother.

Mrs. Frederick Madlenger
CHAIRMAN, ST. ANDREW'S ASSOCIATION.

WINE OF CARDUI

Wine of Cardui is the most successful menstrual regulator. By regulating menstruation, Wine of Cardui banishes inflammation from the entire female organism and the strengthened ligaments bring the organs back to their proper place. It banishes the racking pains and burning inflammation and brought her relief. She was restored to health and strength and gives Wine of Cardui the credit of making her able to become a happy mother. This medicine equips a woman for every duty of wifehood and motherhood. There are many suffering women who think that health can never be theirs because they cannot secure the services of a great specialist, but we want to say right here that while Mrs. Madlenger lives in Philadelphia, a great medical center, she depended on Wine of Cardui for a cure and she was cured. This same medicine is within your reach. Will you take it?

All druggists sell $1.00 bottles Wine of Cardui.
